

Pizza Filled Biscuits

Can you tell that we love pizza around here? Who wouldn't? It is so easy! And when you have two one years olds and are 6 months pregnant, ill take the easy way out some days;)

I wanted to cook me and the babies some pizza the other day and I couldn't find any ingredients for the dough and I didn't have any store-bought. But I did have biscuits. Hhhmmmm.. that might be yummy?

Ingredients:

- Can of biscuits
- Marinara
- cheese (whichever type you prefer) **I used string cheese but I would suggest not using it with this recipe because it doesn't melt great in biscuits or reheat well.
- pepperoni/ham or whichever topping you prefer

I heat my oven to 350 degrees. While the oven was preheating I put the biscuits together!

I used the Grands Flaky Layer biscuits. I tore them in half and put marinara on each of the pieces. Then I added the cheese and topped it with pepperoni. Put the other side of the biscuit on top and pinch slightly.

Pop them into the oven and keep an eye on them! Pull them out when they are good and brown and make sure they aren't doughy. Mine took about 12-15 minutes.

Enjoy!